How to Avoid Raising Another Bird's Chicks: Behavioral Defenses Against Brood Parasitism

Dr. Todd Underwood, Ph.D. Underwood is a professor of biology at Kutztown University where he studies bird behavior and ecology. His research focuses on brood parasitism, which is an unusual reproductive strategy in birds where females lay their eggs in other birds' nests and leave all parental care to these foster parents or hosts. Because raising parasitic young is costly to host birds, behavioral defenses against parasitism have evolved. This talk will focus on Dr. Underwood's experimental research on how and why some host birds can recognize and eject a parasite's eggs.
